

Matt Wienke

Partner

Since 2007, Matt has lead Attevo's Enterprise Information Management practice, which focuses on solutions that help clients define, manage, and govern information as a vital organizational asset. Within this practice he is responsible for associates and clients nationally.

Matt joined Attevo in 2005 as a Regional Director, during which time he successfully built a team of IT and business solutions experts around a number of key accounts.

Matt has over 16 years of experience in professional services and has extensive experience justifying, planning, designing, and implementing strategic large-scale information management solutions. His experience includes operational data integration, data warehousing, application development, and packaged software solution implementations.

He has spent the last 10 years immersed in the application of new business process models, technologies, and disciplines that improve visibility to vital information assets within complex environments to reduce costs, increase operational efficiency, manage risk, and improve profits.

Prior to joining Attevo, Matt was with Infinis, Incorporated as a Senior Manager in their Customer Intelligence and Corporate Performance Management practices. He was a member of Arthur Andersen Business Consulting in Columbus from 1995-1999.

Matt holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Business from the Kelly School of Business at Indiana University at Bloomington. He has also been active on the board of the Central Ohio Chapter of the international non-profit Data Management Association since 2006. He's an active public speaker and contributor to professional publications.
